I live and work in Pembrokeshire and draw inspiration from its beautiful coast, landscapes and harbour villages.

The organic textures created in acrylics, full of colourful peeling boats, cottages and emotive landscapes speak of lives that have been lived and have left their marks, shaping the land that we live in and love, creating a history that lives on in our lives.

As a printmaker living in Wales I love walking through the natural and industrial landscape and find it inspiring for the design of my original prints.

To create each new print, I work first on the design using my own photographs and sketches. Then I transfer my design directly onto lino and hand-carve the images using Pfeil tools. Next, with a roller, I apply Cranfield Caligo inks directly to the lino. Then, I lay Somerset Satin paper over the lino and print by hand using the back of a metal spoon. Finally, I name and sign each print by hand.

Peter's love of Wales is evident in his work. He captures images from his travels and paints the glorious buildings within our unspoilt landscape with a pallet knife on canvas at his studio. He is currently working towards his next exhibition where Pembrokeshire and North Wales are paramount in many of his paintings.

Peter supplies galleries throughout the UK, and also sells original paintings and prints direct from his web www.petermorganart.co.uk

Growing up in Pembrokeshire and surrounded by coastal villages, farmhouses and harbours, it is no surprise that the landscape around him has influenced him and his painting subject.

I am an artist based in High Littleton, near Bath. I started painting in 2009 after almost 20 years working as a Landscape Architect.

I work predominantly in acrylic and am best known for loose and expressive landscapes and seascapes with atmospheric skies. I work mainly from the studio taking inspiration for colour and subject from sketches that I've done on long walks and holidays to wonderful wild places that make me feel both alive and grounded.

As well as painting I run workshops and co-host the Artchatter podcast.

Having studied Art, working with wool for many years, Susan discovered feltmaking. She enjoys the process of “painting” with natural and hand-dyed wool then wet-felting together a complex variety of fibres, yarns and fabrics including silk, cotton and flax to build up deep, rich surfaces, hand and machine stitching to add quilted depth and further texture. For many years she has been inspired by the forces that form our landscapes.

Her work is presently shown in The Old School Gallery, Swaledale, various venues around Shropshire and in The Willow Gallery, Oswestry, where she also runs textile workshops.

“I have been an artist all my life but only in the last 10 years have I dedicated my working life to it. I am painting and drawing every day and selling a surprising amount of my work.

Working in Oils and Charcoal on landscape and portraiture, I now have a body of work which tells a story of the Taff Vale area in the 21st century. Times will change and I hope my work stands the test of time so that in years to come, those who own my work will cherish the vision I have today.”

Rachel is a printmaker based in Wakefield. She finds inspiration in nature, particularly in line and pattern. She is interested in all forms of printmaking with a focus on linocut.

Drawing is a big part of the process and each design is carefully thought out. Colour is also important and is inspired by vintage prints. The ideas are then translated onto the lino block. The prints are made using the reduction method, colour is applied with a roller, paper is placed over the top, then each print is hand burnished. The paper is lifted to reveal the image.

I am a Birmingham born printmaker and teacher, living and working in Sutton Coldfield.

My passion is for printmaking, predominantly for single block, monochrome linocut prints. I love the almost meditative process of carving and the boldness of a single block print on beautiful handmade paper.

I am hugely inspired by the natural world and its changing seasons, specifically as is reflected in my own suburban garden. Loving the combination of image and text, my own cursive writing frequently plays an integral part in my work.

Jan Bruce Sculpture

Jan Bruce is an award-winning contemporary stone sculptor based in the west highlands of Herefordshire.

Jan, who was awarded 1st prize in Herefordshire's annual H.Art competition in 2024, is also featured in series 3 of BBC 'Make It At Market', an arts and crafts show hosted by the Repair Shop's Dominic Chinea. Look out for episode 11, first airing on March 18th, BBC1, 3.45pm and then BBC iPlayer.

"Stonecarving is in my blood. Having started stonecarving aged 14, I went on to study sculpture at degree level, followed by a life of diverse twists and turns, eventually leading me back to where I belong, hammer and chisel in hand. Sculpting feels as natural as breathing to me, and is the best way I can converse with the world."

Craft*folk - a well-established event company organising outdoor art and craft events in and around the Cardiff area for 31 years. We are committed, through our events, to providing a platform for artists, crafts people and food and drink producers to exhibit and sell their work directly to the general public. In today's economic uncertainty it is more important than ever to keep our talented makers to the forefront of retailing. When you visit our events, you can be assured that you will be purchasing original work from each and every one of our makers and can also chat with them about their products, how they are made, and discuss commissions if you wish.

Our final event of the year is our biggest..... the Cardiff Christmas Market in the pedestrian streets of the city centre. Our beautifully decorated wooden stalls with a turnover of over 200 authentic artists, craftspeople and food and drink producers is an experience not to be missed. We have been featured among the ten best Christmas Markets in the UK for many years which is a testament to the hard work put in to bring you not only established makers but also introducing new makers through our Taster stall scheme. However, we know that our events would be nothing without the talented makers that support our events as they are the reason for our longevity and popularity.

If you require information on any of our forthcoming events listed here, either as an exhibitor or a visitor, please contact jane@craftfolk.com or call 07974561514 or you can visit our websites www.craftfolk.com or www.cardiffchristmasmarket.com
