Unique members' bar & atelier opens in Caernarfon

Caernarfon has long been a hub of artistic expression and now, Life: Full Colour is proud to add a brand-new members' bar and atelier to the town's creative community.

Called Y Segontium, the bar and atelier are the brainchild of Life: Full Colour founder Sara McKee whose goal is to create a uniquely North Wales version of the St Ives artist colony. It opened in June and is located at 9 Segontium Terrace, Caernarfon.

Sara hopes Y Segonitwm will become a haven for creatives, thinkers, and art lovers. "We've created a unique space where art enthusiasts and connoisseurs can indulge in stimulating conversations, while enjoying a glass of wine, cocktail, or craft beer.

"Plus, we've transformed the first floor into an atelier which professional artists can use to paint, draw, or sculpt, as well as host group sessions. It is full of natural light with beautiful views of the harbour, making it the ideal spot for people to pursue their creative dreams."

The members' bar on the ground floor is a snug and convivial location, which is under the charge of well-known bar manager and barista, Dewi Arfon Jones. The bar is bursting with art from the Life: Full Colour artist colony, which is all available to buy, as well as a library full of art books and games. While the bar is open to visitors, there will be special events exclusively for members, such as live music nights, held throughout the year.

Artists who choose to become a Y Segontium member can access the atelier and book the studio space free of charge. Membership also unlocks additional benefits such as discounts on artist supplies.

In July, the atelier will become home to American artist Charity Baker who is participating in an international exchange programme which is a collaboration between Life: Full Colour and the New York Studio School. The exchange will see Charity spend a month in North Wales, working alongside North Wales artists such as Jocelyn Roberts, Jane Paice, and Louise Morgan RCA, as well as learning about Wales' artistic heritage.

In Charity's honour, a party will be held at Y Segontium on 4th July to celebrate America's Independence Day and to officially welcome Charity to North Wales. The 4th of July party is the venue's first exclusive event for members and their guests. Visitors will also be able to see Charity in action in the studio throughout her one-month residency at Y Segontium.

Y Segontium is open every Thursday to Saturday from 5pm to 10pm. Keep up to date with Y Segontium news on social media at:

Dawn Harries Art

Dawn Harries is a Welsh Contemporary Landscape Painter, using the natural beauty of the British countryside as her inspiration, especially the rolling hills and rugged coastline of Wales.

Dawn uses the effects of colour and contrast in her paintings to capture the seasons and atmosphere of the landscape, to bring warmth, nature and sea air into your home.

'Nature's Canvas' is a solo exhibition of more than 25 paintings, capturing quiet moments within the landscape in an impressionistic style. An exhibition not to be missed.

ANNA ROEBUCK

Anna has been designing jewellery and artwork since 2001. She specialises in recycling plastics, but enjoys working in a variety of media allowing her to explore her passion for recycling, the environment and illustration in her designs. Her plastic ranges are created using recycled bottles and have a 95% recycled content. Her latest bold range explores colour and shape in cuffs that are adjustable so fit almost any wrist. They are light to wear, absolutely contemporary, and are a best seller in Bluestone. Aluminium is one of the most efficiently recycled materials and Anna uses it to create delicate and beautiful scenes reflecting her love of nature etched onto cuffs earrings and pendants. Anna also somehow finds the time to create and teach artwork with local schools and community groups.

SUE BROWN

Sue Brown is an artist who uses printmaking to tell stories. Inspired by process as much as nature, her work springs from the pages of sketchbooks, and she develops carefully researched themes, exploring and developing them with print, textiles and vitreous enamel techniques. She has been making collagraphs for nearly 20 years and is inspired by all things ornithological, particularly fascinated by the antics of corvids and our relationship with the feathered visitors to her urban garden.

Hugely experienced in many areas of print making, including etching, collagraphs and her own "Hybrid" prints, her work has an gentle but enduring character.

A NEW and exciting addition to the creative spaces in Monmouthshire - Many of you are already familiar with The Makers Crafts Gallery in Abergavenny, home to a wide selection of established and emerging Makers.

This month, the 'sister gallery' to the Abergavenny space opens at the established and stunning venue, Craft Renaissance, half way between Abergavenny and Usk - The Makers at Craft Renaissance.

This collection of Makers, some of whom you may recognise, and others who could be new discoveries, in a revamped Gallery, along with the amazing cafe, Kitchen at Craft Renaissance, which has already gained a very positive reputation, are going to really contribute to this site being a true go-to destination, especially as some of the members, and other guests tutors, are going to be running regular workshops here. The Gallery and Kitchen will be collaborating on all kinds of activities and events, including workshop lunches, and refreshments for pop-up Markets!

The Gallery will, as does its sister venue in Abergavenny, run as a collective, with Makers taking turns to steward the space, welcoming all visitors, and being on hand if you have any requests, or need help choosing that unique, handmade gift.
