Email: ladybirdhair@msn.com

Facebook: @Ladybird Glass

Inspired by her love of the outdoors, nature, countryside and people, Ladybird Glass creates extraordinary glass art with a unique twist. Not only does she produce decorative glass art but commission pieces too, that can incorporate your loved ones ashes, as well as beloved pets ashes too. "The fact that someone trusts me with their loved ones ashes is an honour and a total privilege." Commissions take approximately four weeks depending on detail and size. Ladybird Glass' work can be seen via her Facebook page and can be purchased directly. Samples of Leesa's work can be seen and purchased from Gower Artisans shop in St. Mary's church, Mumbles Pobble Arts & Crafts, Southgate Pennard. She will also be exhibiting at the National Trust Shop, Rhossili, December next year.

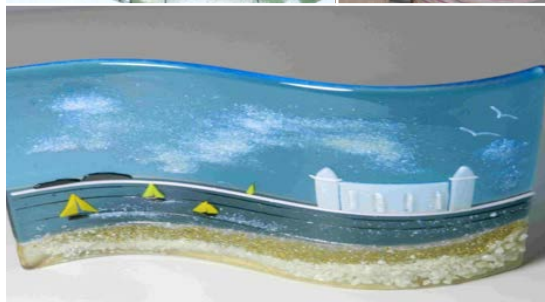

JUDITH MARTIN-JONES GLASS

Inspired by her surrounding Pembrokeshire beaches and countryside, and passion for working with glass, Jenn Gowney creates vibrant, unique glass jewellery as 'Curious Glass'

"It all started when I was given a glass necklace as a gift, I was captivated by its sparkle. I had a small 'DIY' kiln set up for a while that allowed me some glass exploration before moving onto a professional kiln. I love to experiment with different techniques, shapes, glass and colours."

Liz Barton has been a stained glass artist creating vibrant, stand-out glass for over 20 years.

"I found my passion and lost my heart to glass when I started a class at night school.

I set up Glass Heart Art in 2013 and I work in the traditional way using lead came for windows, I also work with copper foil for smaller hangings.

My work is very much inspired by nature and my love of the beauty of our world."

As Gray Glass we are a team nestled in a village in South Wales. We individually design and make our unique glass using only powders. This method produces an array of simply beautiful colours and textures. With a mutual love of creating the unusual, we wanted to produce innovative glass for people to admire for years.

We take inspiration from our environments, our glass is individual, no two items will ever be the same, this is the part we really love.

I am a glass artist and designer-maker living in Bristol, UK, who creates stained glass and kiln-formed glass window art, homeware and jewellery.

My work is primarily designed to interact with natural light to bring patterns of colour to interiors. The versatility of glass types and techniques make it a fascinating medium to work with, and I have always loved how the shades of coloured glass change in different light. Eva's work is for sale via her Etsy shop and at Abbey Mill Crafts in Tintern.

Work encompassing the beauty and essence of The Marches, from local Artists and Makers.

Stratifications

An exhibition of artistic responses to the idea of strata or layers, both literal and abstract, including paintings and other wall art, decorative sculpture, ceramics, textiles, jewellery and more.
This theme runs throughout September & October, except during Herefordshire Art Week (7th-15th September) - see h-art.org

MadeintheMarches.com Tues - Sat, 10am - 5pm

September and the start of the oriel CRiC gallery's autumn exhibitions will at the change of season, celebrate the changing light and mood of the Welsh landscape, as well as its inhabitants.

Tim Rossiter's imaginative response to the natural world, Tony Tribe's mountain landscapes, the interplay of light in the landscapes and trees by Alex Brown and intricate scraperboard images by Kay Leverton, will all add to the collectible mix of original paintings and prints, complemented by ceramics, sculpture, glass and jewellery. They will join regular exhibitors such as Rhian Symes, Lee Wright, Martin Truefitt-Baker and David Haswell.

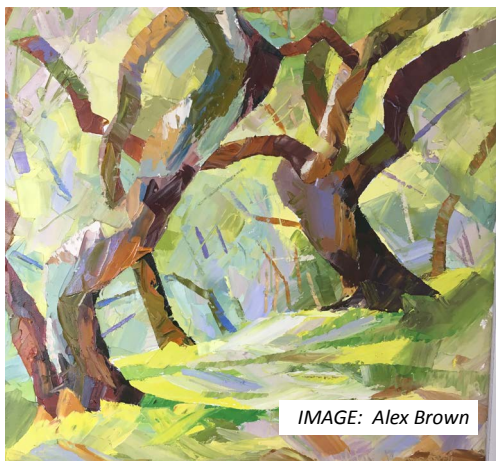

IMAGE: Alex Brown

On the afternoon of Saturday 7 September the gallery would like to welcome friends old and new to meet some of the exhibiting artists and enjoy the selection of work over a cup of coffee in the beautiful gallery space.

Amongst all of the machine-made items in our homes, it's wonderful to support an artist and have something in which you can sense the time, effort and skill that went into its creation.

There is always much in this Crickhowell gallery which is beautiful and functional or purely decorative to give pleasure as a statement piece or a small treasure.

IMAGE: Tony Tribe

CRiC is open daily from 10 till 5, Sundays 10 till 1.30 and offers a small coffee bar and retail area, internet access, photocopying and office facilities, room hire, tourism and local information and the upstairs oriel CRiC gallery.

Black Cat Glass Designs...

With a glass range to wow, including vases, bowls, dishes, wall art, fused glass flowers and pendants, the team at Black Cat Glass Design also make a small range of leaded-glass mirrors.

"What inspires us is colour. We love working with the bright, vibrancy of glass. Colours can be enhanced with heatwork or muted with sandblasting. There is just so much that can be done with colour. We work very differently from each other. Rich likes to sketch out his designs, then choose the colours and follow the sketch closely. I sometimes sketch but largely prefer to design 'on the go' and see how the mood takes me. I find my ideas 'flow' more easily this way and it feels more creative for me somehow. Obviously, when undertaking commissions, we are both much stricter in sketching and sticking with a drawn plan!"

When we asked what they love about working with glass, they said;

"What we love about the medium is its versatility due to the many forms it comes in and how those forms can be utilised. Glass comes in sheet form, powder, or crushed. It can come in long thin strands or thicker rods. It can be iridised, plain, opaque or transparent. With such a mutable substance, we can indulge our fascination for experimentation using a huge variety of techniques."

With such wonderful diversity in each of their pieces, we were curious to find out which piece is their favourite; "That's easy. The bright coloured, striped sandblasted bowl. Firstly, it's very popular and one of our best sellers. Secondly, it takes people by surprise for two reasons: the stripes on the outside of the bowl go a different way to the stripes on the inside of the bowl and secondly, the bowl is sandblasted. This gives a matte finish which people don't normally associate with glass, which is normally glossy. It's a piece which people at craft events just ask to touch, and it's also the piece which seems to catch everyone's eyes when they look at our stall."

Black Cat Glass Design's work can be purchased via their website, or by contacting them direct on Instagram or Facebook. They are members of the Herefordshire Guild of Craftsmen so exhibit with them throughout the year at a variety of events from Hay Festival to Malvern Autumn Show. Further events are also publicised on their website Facebook page.

They accept commissions and people can do this through their 'contact us' button on the website or message on Facebook or Instagram.

Caroline Green and Winona Peddar had dreamed of opening a gallery together and when the right property became available on the Homend in Ledbury they took the plunge. So on March 30th 2019 Take 4 was born.

Take 4 aims to be a hub for artists and art groups. The gallery offers contemporary art in a range of media and styles. Showcasing the work of four artists and four different media at a time, including painters, photographers, ceramicists, jewellers, sculptors and mixed media artists. Caroline's work is also on display as resident artist. Exhibitions run for approximately five weeks and many of the artists come in for a 'meet the maker' session once during that time. The exhibitions are often themed with an event, for instance the Ledbury poetry festival. The next exhibition starting at the beginning of September is entitled "Crossing Boundaries". There will be special exhibition for Christmas starting on Friday 1st November.

Caroline and Winona have created a relaxed and welcoming feel to the gallery and everyone is invited to come in to browse or just have a chat. Dogs are welcome too!

Artists are encouraged to visit the gallery and to discuss the possibility of showing their work at Take 4. A commission of 25% is taken from all work sold.

Caroline holds an art class once a week at the gallery working with five students of all abilities. Call for availability.

Warren Day is a landscape painter specialising in trees, forests and rural landscapes. What distinguishes his work are the real earth samples that are integrated into the artwork adding texture and literally a piece of the scenery reinforcing the connection between the landscape and the painting. On closer inspection one can see small fragments of leaves, seeds and other organic matter within this 'living painting medium'. Mixed media and gouache painting capture the exquisite and highly detailed beauty.

For commissions, comments or questions, please contact Warren via his website.

DONNA MILLER ART

Work can be purchased/commissioned from:
Etsy – WildlifeByDonna, or by contacting me directly on donna.miller_art@yahoo.com

I was born and grew up in the wonderful place of the Forest Of Dean. I'm fascinated by wildlife and I produce close-ups, showing facial details, especially the eyes, capturing the soul and character.

I mainly work in pastels as they reflect the softness and texture. I build up different layers of marks to obtain a greater depth for individual portraits.

My work is inspired by whatever moves me. Emotion runs through everything I do, like words in a stick of rock. Most recently my work has taken a more obvious swing towards abstraction but throughout it all I get a buzz from playing with colour, layers and marks.

I currently use acrylic and mixed media. I have a printmaking MA from Chelsea College of Art and enjoy experimenting with materials to find the best match for my ideas.

STEVE MANNING

PRINTMAKER

Image: 'Colmer's Hill' lino cut print

I am an Exeter based printmaker and member of the South West Academy of Fine and Applied Arts.

All my prints begin with the sky and the character of the clouds tends to inform the composition of the picture. My preference is for relief printing using lino in a combination of reduction and multi-block techniques. My prints seek to capture ephemeral moments whether they be fleeting light reflected in water, shifting cloud patterns, the enormity of an overarching sky, distant vistas or a brief moment of stillness amongst the constant movement of the natural world.

My prints are produced in small limited editions and have been sold to private collections in the UK and overseas.

Throughout my life I have always found time to paint. Now I am retired, I paint almost every day and my biggest inspiration is Kyffin Williams. I adore his work and try to create paintings using his technique and colour profiles.

I prefer to use only five colours and paint with a palette knife 'impasto' style to create texture and movement.

I try not to add too much detail hoping for a more 'simplistic' image.

Cotyledon Craft & Food Markets

“Cotyledon markets go the extra mile to support traders in building their small businesses and reaching new customers. We are the first (single use) plastic free market in Wales and we link our ethos of local, sustainable, affordable and accessible into all of the work we do.”

Chepstow Town Market, Sunday 25th August
Tredegear House, Saturday 31st August
Bellevue Park, Sunday 1st September
Tredegear House, Saturday 14th September

www.cotyledon.co.uk

The markets benefited greatly from the EU funded project we recently completed which aimed to increase the presence of growers and producers. The value for customers in knowing they are buying local to source and can hear stories from the traders is probably what makes the markets popular. We have extended this further now into our work in Belle Vue Park. We took over the licence from Newport City Council on 1st November and have been keen to increase accessibility of local produce and crafts to a wider population through the tea room menu. There are lots of home made meat and plant based choices on offer each day... and some lovely coffee too!

People visiting the tearoom can buy farm butter and milk or choose from a small range of producer craft for sale between markets. We are proud to have supported the development and production of a new beer – Bragawd a delicious honey beer which was trialled and will continue to be available at our pop up events.

Our ‘local’ theme is also encouraging greater use of the Park’s facilities as more charitable activities are supported. We are going to build on the food and drink theme within the park during the next few years.

Belle Vue Park, Newport is our home for the next few years and we have a lot of exciting plans already being delivered and planned for 2019-20. We want to thank our loyal traders, customers, friends and family for supporting us throughout the past year and hope to inspire new people to join us and to get involved in developing Belle Vue Park as the place to go for people of all ages.

Look out for the following at Belle Vue :

August:

13th and 14th August - kids nature trail and storytelling. Pick up a pack from the tearoom and take a fact finding and pebble finding trip around the park

16th, 6.00pm – 930pm – Street Food Friday
 The amazing sisterhood are back to entertain along with our small bar and street food to tempt all tastes.

26th National Dog Day – Our Dog Day Afternoon – an action packed day full of things to do for the family including dog show, picnic, dog stalls, health checks, games and prizes. Free day for Bank Holiday Monday

September:

1st - Our regular Sunday artisan food and craft market
